

COLL. CAT.

W.Q
28

AP4

P5L9

PROSPECTUS OF INSTRUCTION

GIVEN AT THE

Phila. Lying-in Charity,

Spring of 1887.

PRACTICAL OBSTETRICS.

The course will commence on Monday, April 11th, 1887, and continue for ten weeks. The opening lecture will be given on Monday, April 11th, at 5 P. M. The second and third lectures will be given on Wednesday, April 13th, and Friday, April 15th, at the same hour. After the first week the hours will be arranged so as not to interfere with the regular work of the various medical colleges. All medical students at regular medical colleges, and graduates in medicine, are invited to attend. The course will consist of forty lectures and twenty demonstrations. The instruction will be practical in character, embracing the diagnosis of pregnancy, disorders of pregnancy, the management of natural labor, and of the various forms of dystocia, and the obstetric operations. Especial attention will be given and facilities afforded for the instruction of the student in the practical duties of the lying-in chamber. The student is made to take personal charge and assume personal responsibility of the patient, making the instruction resemble as near as possible private practice. A corps of competent assistants are always ready to aid the student in any emergency. Students will be invited in regular order to attend personally the cases of labor occurring in the wards of the hospital, under Dr. Wilson's supervision. Students will also make stated visits to the wards with Dr. Wilson for the purpose of learning the diagnosis of the positions and the details of the treatment of the puerperal diseases. Cases for attendance at their own homes will be assigned students in regular order. The material is abundant, about twelve cases occurring in the hospital, and about thirty cases occurring in the outside practice of the Institution every month. 14,000 cases have thus far been attended by the students of this Institution.

PRACTICAL GYNÆCOLOGY.

Courses on Practical Gynæcology will be given at the Clinic of the Philadelphia Lying-in Charity, No. 126 North Eleventh Street, throughout the entire year. Each Course will last six weeks. Students may enter these classes at any time. Students will receive clinical instruction, under the supervision of the Staff of the Hospital, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at 11 A. M. Each class will be limited to six.

Students attending this Course will have the privilege of witnessing the operations in the Hospital, and will have the opportunity of acting as assistants at private operations.

A limited number of gentlemen will be received as office students, to whom the instruction at the Lying-in Charity is free. The terms for office students, who act as Dr. Wilson's assistants in private practice, is $100 per annum.

FEES.

Practical Obstetrics,	-	-	$15.00
Diploma, to those passing a satisfactory examination only, upon graduation,	-	-	5.00
Practical Gynæcology,	-	-	10.00

For further information, and application for membership in these Courses, apply by letter, or in person, at the Institution, 126 North Eleventh Street, any Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, at 11 A. M., or to

DR. CHARLES MEIGS WILSON,

N. E. Cor. 17th and Sansom Sts., Phila.

From 8 to 10 A. M., 3 to 4, and 7 to 8 P. M.

PROSPECTUS OF INSTRUCTION
PHILADELPHIA Lying-in Charity

Spring of 1887.

PRACTICAL OBSTETRICS.

The course will commence on Monday, April 11th, 1887, and continue for ten weeks. The opening lecture will be given on Monday, April 11th at 8 p.m. The second and third lectures will be given on Wednesday, April 13th and Friday, April 15th, at the same hour. After the first week the hours will be arranged so as not to interfere with the regular work of the various medical colleges. All medical students at regular medical colleges, and graduates in medicine, are invited to attend. The course will consist of forty lectures and twenty demonstrations. The lectures will be practical in character, embracing the diagnosis of pregnancy, abortion, the management of normal labor, and the various diseases of pregnancy, and the clinical application of the various means of treatment. Special attention will be given and facilities afforded in the management of the student in the practical duties of the various branches. The student is invited to take personal charge and personal management of the patient, making the treatment complete as near as possible to the practice. A corps of competent assistants are always ready to aid the student in any emergency. Students will be invited to regular order to attend personally the course of instruction in the work of the hospital, under the supervision of the students will also have access to the wards with the Women for the purpose of learning the diagnosis of the patients and the results of the treatment of the various cases. Cases for students at their own houses will